FIREMEN'S GREAT DAY

Banner Meeting of Five County Volunteer Firemen.

FIFTY COMPANIES AND BANDS

Marched to Inspiring Music Beneath Sunny Skies in View of Thousands of Enthusiastic People—Results of Races and Competitions.

Amid streaming banners, to the unsurpassed music of fine bands, with the streets crowded with thousands of spectators, the companies of the Five County Volunteer Firemen's association marched in their annual parade in Towanda on Friday morning.

If the Towanda firemen had the making of the weather to order they could not have wished for a more perfect day for the purpose of a firemen's parade. It was a great day in every sense of the word, with a blue sky and a bright sun tempered by a delightful breeze. Every section of the Five County Volunteer Firemen's association was well represented, and at 11 o'clock when the ninth annual parade began to move over 15,000 people lined the streets; and they were all bent on having a good time.

Excursion Trains Crowded.

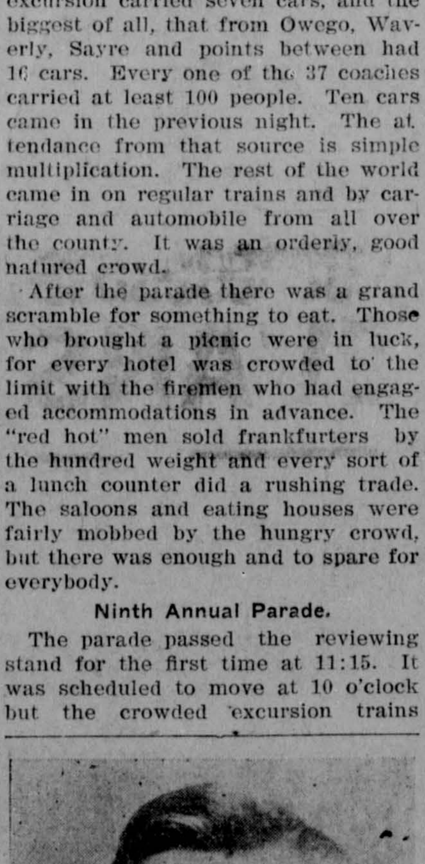
The morning excursion trains were late in arriving and it was between 10 and 11 o'clock when they unloaded at the Washington street station. The first to arrive was from Tunkhannock, seven cars loaded to the steps; the Bernice branch train brought seven cars, the Hughesville excursion carried seven cars, and the biggest of all, that from Owego, Waverly, Sayre and points between had 16 cars. Every one of the 37 coaches carried at least 100 people. Ten cars came in the previous night. The attendance from that source is simple multiplication. The rest of the world came in on regular trains and by carriage and automobile from all over the county. It was an orderly, good natured crowd.

E. G. HUMPHREY,
Chairman Local Executive Committee and Chief Marshal.

After the parade there was a grand scramble for something to eat. Those who brought a picnic were in luck, for every hotel was crowded to the limit with the firemen who had engaged accommodations in advance. The "red hot" men sold frankfurters by the hundred weight and every sort of a lunch counter did a rushing trade. The saloons and eating houses were fairly mobbed by the hungry crowd, but there was enough and to spare for everybody.

Ninth Annual Parade.

The parade passed the reviewing stand for the first time at 11:15. It was scheduled to move at 10 o'clock but the crowded excursion trains were late on account of the ticket agents not being able to sell tickets fast enough to provide the passengers and get them on the train on time.



W. E. KINSLEY,
Secretary Local Executive Committee.

The parade was the largest in the history of the association and was a fine pageant of handsomely clad companies and splendid bands. Towanda's streets were elaborately trimmed throughout the line of march and visiting firemen expressed great appreciation of the lavish manner in which the county seat of Bradford county welcomed them.

Headed by the fire police the 33 fire companies, 16 bands and a drum corps, divisoned off and each headed by a marshal on horse back presented an imposing sight and the mammoth crowd in Towanda was well rapaid for the trip to see the fire laddies of the Five-County Firemen's asociation. One of the features of the parade was the old Naiad engine in which rode four of the oldest living members of the company, Charles H. Allen, J. William Means, and Thomas Meredith of Towanda and Andrew Delpuech of Hornbrook. Another interesting carriage was one decorated in red, white and blue drawn by Frank Morris's "Mike" and in the carraige was John Love, a resident of Towanda, now 89 years of age, an exempt fireman of Elmira. A young boy represented the future fireman.

WM. NAGLE.
Treasurer Local Executive Committee.

Oscoluwa Engine and Hose company of Troy made a hit in their rube costume, representing the comic picture farmer with old straw hats, blue denim jumpers and overalls and hay. The Wilbur's new truck drawn by a heavy team of draft horses made a fine appearance. Cross Forks Hose had a Chinaman as standard bearer. Hawes Hose company, No. 5 of Towanda made a good impression in their new uniforms with red shirts, white trousers and blue caps. Four automobiles were in line.

The Lin-ta's guests, the Ahwaga hose company of Owego, with the Curran-Heim band of Binghamton, made a very fine appearance in the line of march and the band was a cracker-jack as were most of the organizations present. Leader Edward Walker had a very strong band out for Towanda and their marching music was excellent.

DUDLEY HUMPHREY,
Chief Engineer T. F. D.

These Drew Prizes.

The prize of $25 for the company having the largest number of uniformed men in line was awarded the R. A. Packer Hose company of Sayre, 50 men.

The prize of $25 for the best appearing company in line was given to Protection Hose company of Athens.

There was but one company that drilled, the Wilbur Hook and Ladder of Sayre; the judges gave them a rating of 90 per cent and the prize of $60.

Order of Parade.

There were 1,174 uniformed men in line. The companies marched six divisions in the following order and numbers:

Towanda fire police, 15. John Barrett captain.

Chief Marshal, E. G. Humphrey.

Division No. 1.

Index Boards.

Nearly all the constables reported that index boards are up in their respective townships at the intersection of roads. Two, however, stated that although the attention of the authorities had been frequently called to the matter, but little effort had been made to comply with the law. Judge Fanning expressed himself as greatly pleased that in the main the statute was being complied with, and stated that index boards were of great convenience to the traveling public, and that this feature and the improved condition of the roads in most portions of the county were the subjects of genral and favorable comment. He expressed a desire that all townships comply at once with the statute which for the benefit of all concerned he again quoted as follows:

"The supervisors aforesaid, shall cause posts to be erected at the intersection of all public roads within their respective townships, (where trees are not convenient) with boards firmly fixed theron, and index hands pointing to the direction of such roads, on which boards shall be inscribed in large and legible characters, the name of the town, village or place to which such roads may lead, and the distance thereto, computed in miles.

"If any supervisor shall, after ten days' personal notice, neglect or refuse to put up, or keep in complete repair, index boards as aforesaid, such supervisor shall, for every offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten dollars."

Liquor to Minors.

It was reported to the court that there was an alarming amount of drinking by minors in Troy. This was confirmed by the constable who stated that he was as yet unable to ascertain by whom the liquor was furnished. Judge Fanning stated that it was a serious offence to furnish liquors to minors by sale, gift or otherwise, and that any person who purchased intoxicants and gave the same to minors was just as liable to prosecution as a dealer. He further instructed the constable if this state of affairs existed as stated, to make every possible effort to ascertain the names of the guilty parties.

Memorial Committee.

L. T. Hoyt, Esq., A. L. Laws, Esq., and William Maxwell, Esq., were appointed a committee by the court to prepare a memorial upon the death of the late district attorney of Bradford county, Frederick K. Stephens of Sayre and present the same in open court.

WORK OF PICKPOCKETS.

Several People Relieved of Watches and Money on Friday.

The pickpockets got in their deadly work in Towanda Friday, at least 20 persons reporting to the police the loss of watches or pocketbooks during the afternoon. Four persons were arrested on suspicion, but nothing was proved against them.

While the sums lost were in most cases small, one G. A. R. veteran was relieved of his pocketbook containing $17, and Dr. J. W. Murrelle of Athens, had his watch lifted. The timepiece is an open-faced, screw case watch with Elgin movement, and a picture of his daughter inside the case. The chain is a rolled gold, twisted link, with a fob. The charm is a bronze maltese cross, engraved inside, and also containing a reproduction of the Confederate flag. Officers and jewelers are requested to be on the lookout for it.

Richard McHale of Ulster township, walked across the bridge with a stranger on his way to the ball game; they were ahead of the game, and so concluded to walk down across the field. As they entered the brush, McHale was struck an ugly blow, and when consciousness returned he reports he was minus $30. He says he could identify the man, but no one has yet been found who answers the description he gives of his companion.

Most of the pocket picking was done during the races on South Main street, where the people were crowded together in an almost solid mass.

Dr. Charles Reed of Wysox, lost his pocketbook with a considerable sum of money, E. H. DeLong of Asylum, was another, and Prof. Joel Horton of Gutenburg, N. J., was relieved of his pocketbook containing a ticket to New York, papers and $9.00.

The pocketbook lost by Hon. C. S. Russell of Towanda, was found Saturday at the Gunn hotel, where the pickpocket had thrown it behind a table. The papers were intact but $49, including a gold pocket piece, is missing.

The thieves found one of their richest spots at the Washington street depot while the big crowds were getting on board the trains, and incidentally getting in out of the rain. The Bernice branch contingent suffered especially, numerous New Albany parties being touched. One young boy was relieved of $2 and his father lost $20.

Pockets Picked.

A Wilkesbarre dispatch says that while enroute from Towanda and Sayre to that city on an excursion train over the Lehigh Valley railroad Friday, ten passengers had their pockets picked. The Valley people are aroused and say that they will spare neither time nor money in running down the gang of pickpockets operating in the vicinity of their station during the past month.

Sayre Man Plucked.

William Knapp of Sayre had his pockets picked of $45 and a valuable pin at the Washington street station in Towanda on Friday night as he was boarding the train to go home. He felt some one in his pockets and tried to get ahold of the man's hands but the thief was too slippery. The loss was reported to Detective Caskey but the pickpocket could not be located.

Woman Had His Watch.

Among those who were touched for money and watches on Friday was Lawrence Hawes of this place. A woman grabbed his watch and started to run with it. Mr. Hawes succeeded in catching her and got his watch back. The woman was probably one of the gang that came here to work the convention day crowd.

Notes and Deed Found.

George McCrossin of Rummerfield came to Towanda on Friday and deposited some $400 in the bank. It was a good thing he did as soon after his pocketbook was taken. Saturday the notes and a deed in it were found near the railroad track at the Washington street station.

This Bluff Worked.

A prominent resident of Wilkesbarre lost his well-lined pocketbook on a Parsons street car. There was only one young man on the street car at the time the man left his pocketbook lying on the seat. He, therefore, advertised that if the fellow did not return the pocketbook to a certain address by a certain time, he would be arrested. The "bluff" had the desired effect. On the following morning the man's door bell rang, and on answering the ring he found his wallot lying on the doorsill, wrapped in a newspaper. The wallet contained a large sum of money and some valuable papers, and they had not been disturbed.

Changes at Wyalusing.

F. H. Seward & Co., have sold their hay, produce and coal business at Wyalusing to the Wyalusing Hay company composed of J. L. Ellsworth, O. C. Smith and Guy Ellsworth. F. R. Mitten has sold his grain and feed business to J. Miles Brown. Mr. Mitten has taken the agency of the Pacific Insurance company.

TWO DEATHS BY RAIL

D. G. Lindley and Wheary Boy Struck at Canton.

ANOTHER BOY WAS INJURED.

Accident Occured at the Elliott Crosssing—Engineer Saw Wagon on Track but Could Not Stop in Time. to Present a Tragedy.

A distressing fatality occurred at the Elliott crossing about a half mile from Canton yesterday morning in which Denton G. Lindley was instantly killed and a boy named Willis Wheary was so badly injured that he died two hours after. Another boy John Miller was hurt but it is thought that he will recover.

The accident happened at about 9:15 in the morning. Mr. Lindley, who lives on the well-known Maple Grove farm and drives a milk route, was coming from East Canton to Canton. He drove up to the track and did not see the approaching passenger train. The wagon got directly in front of the engine and the crash resulted in the death of Lindley, the fatal injury to Wheary, the destruction of both horses and the demolishment of the wagon.

The engineer saw the wagon on the track but could not stop the locomotive in time to prevent a disaster. It is said that no blame attaches to the company as the whistle had been given. It is probable that the rattle of the cans in the milk wagon prevented Mr. Lindely and the two boys from hearing the train.

Lindley's back was broken and his death was instantaneous. He was a man 60 years of age and a highly respected citizen. His death caused a great shock at Canton.

He served in the Civil war in the One Hundred and Sixth regiment of Pennsylvania volunters and was wounded at Cold Harbor. He was a Republican in politics.

The Wheary boy who was killed was injured internally and his skull was crushed. The Miller boy was badly bruised but it is expected that he will recover.

HIS LIBERTY WAS BRIEF.

Charles F. Marshall Secured Bail Saturday, But Was Rearrested.

Charles F. Marshall, who has been in the county jail since Aug. 8, charged with threatening to kill his father and his divorced wife, secured bail on Saturday, his father becoming his bondsman. He was at liberty some 15 minutes when he was again placed under arrest by Chief Miller, on a warrant sworn out by Constable Hollon, charging pointing a pistol.

He was returned to jail about 30 minutes later. It is stated that other warrants have been issued should he succeed in getting bail on the second charge.

Horses Poisoned By Locust Bark.

Thomas L. Young, a Charleston, Tioga farmer, has two very sick horses, the result of the animals gnawing the bark of loucust trees.

The symptoms of locust poisoning in horses is first a paralysis of the throat and inability to drink; then the spine becomes affected, then the brain and the animal becomes widly mad and death soon follows.

Had Leg Amputated.

George Chambers, an air brake coupler on the Auburn division of the Lehigh Valley, had his right leg amputated midway between the foot and knee by falling under the wheels of an engine Saturday morning. At the hospital it was found necesary to amputate the leg close to the knee.

NEW LOPEZ COMPANY.

Will Manufacture Cement and Brick Block and Stone.

The Towanda correspondent to the Elmira Telegram says:

There is an application pending for a charter for the Lopez Sandstone, Cement, Brick and Block company and if the projectors carry their ideas to a succesful issue, it undoubtedly means a new lease of life for the Lopez region. The gentlemen connected with the company inform us that they intend to erect works that will cost about $25,000 and that large numbers of men will be employed. There are vast beds of fire clay in that vicinity and unlimited quanities of the finest qualities of building stone, only needing the touch of the mechanic to turn it into a marketable product. The company has already booked orders for a large quanitity of paving brick and cement stone for several large blocks in Wilkesbarre and Scranton. All over the vast region that has ben stripped of its forests during the last twenty years are scattered these building stones, and the beds of fire clay are the largest in the world. Without a doubt, Lopez, instead of tottering to her doom, is just on the threshold of a new and more prosperous career. Coal, brick, cement, Belgian block, cement building blocks and cut stone for building purposes will be the products that will go out from this region during the next century.

Mr. Weed brought the young people up from town, giving them a straw ride and arriving at 2 o'clock. The afternoon was spent in games and exploring the beautiful surroundings. At 5 o'clock a supper was served on the lawn, which was finely decorated with flags; lemonade and ice cream were served and small cakes, which being broken were found to contain small china dolls as souvenirs of the happy occasion. Miss Weed's grandfather, who is in his 85th year, appeared at an upper window and was greeted by the young people. Just as they were starting for home each was presented with a package of gum to which was attached a Roosevelt button, intending to make loyal Republicans of them. At 6 o'clock another straw ride ended at their homes.

Guinea hens are like politicians—useful for the noise they make and in having no market value.

Popcorn and peanuts are unknown in every country save this. Here they represent millions of dollars yearly.

The oleo fraud died hard; so did human slavery, but emancipation was secured at last for both the cow and the colored man.

We never could see just why the state should pay a man $2,500 for doing less work than he did in a private capacity for $1,200.

There should be some way of taking care of the first cutting of the alfalfa field in June in the silo. This first crop it is almost impossible to save as good hay.

The attractiveness and salableness of fruit depend much upon the package and the taste displayed in putting it up. The same principle applies to the ladies.

A reformed tramp giving a lecture said that the worst thing he found connected with hobo life was the good advice the women persisted in giving him with a handout.

Stockmen with finished beef cattle and fat hogs on hand, with fifty-five cent corn to buy to hold them, are not feeling overly sweet about the strike at the packing houses in Chicago.

That redheaded, two pound young rooster will bring 30 cents in June and will only bring as much come Christmas when he weighs six pounds. What is the use of keeping him?

Because of the cold, the snow and the ice there are only about a hundred days in a year when railway construction work can be carried on along much of the route of the Siberian railway in Russia.

A woman who had our sympathy was one who canned a lot of strawberries only to find out too late that by some stupid blunder the grocery man had got salt mixed with the sugar which he sent her. What this woman thought was undoubtedly unfit to print.

An old corn grower says that when a crop of 60 bushels an acre is secured the corn costs 13 cents a bushel to produce, for 50 bushels it is 15 cents, for 40 bushels 18 cents, for 35 bushels 22 cents and for 30 bushels 30 cents. These figures are not very far out of the way, and it is thus easy to know when you are selling corn below the cost of production.

It is typical of the American that he will always seek for the easiest way to do hard things. The marvelous inventive genius of the country originates in this trait of character. Give a Yankee any job of hard work, and ten to one before he has it completed he will have discovered some easier method of doing it. The foreigner will fudge along in the old way, the way of his ancestors; the Yankee never.

We saw the girl in the cornfield the other day—a sunbonneted, blue calicoed, bright eyed miss of sixteen—handling the lines over a nice team and cultivating in good shape from six to eight acres of corn a day. She looked up as the train sped by, and we got to thinking as we passed her how many worse things she might be doing. Next winter this same girl is quite likely to be at some college trying to take a place higher up.

If a man is trying to make a living on a run down and wornout farm in any of the eastern or central states he should look up the alfalfa proposition. If he can grow alfalfa, the way of his redemption is clear. We certainly would not give the old farm away until we had seen what alfalfa could do for it. Near Rochester, N. Y., is a farm which has been thus redeemed by cows and alfalfa and raised in value from $30 per acre to over $100.

It was agreed among the neighbors of a certain community that it should rain on a certain afternoon, and all would be ready for it, but at the last minute it was found that Farmer B. had two tons of hay out, Mrs. C. was to have an outdoor tea party, and Neighbor Jones had not got his turnips and buckwheat sowed, while Miss L.'s Sunday school class had planned for a picnic, and they gave up the job of regulating the rainfall for their community in disgust.

Improved farm machinery begets a new class of risks to life and limb. We note this season men being chewed up by a mowing machine, chopped up by disk harrow, [illegible] hay-fork, blown up by exploding traction engines, losing arms and hands by the corn shredders. Successful farming is today so much a matter of knowing how to operate and care for complicated machinery that every young man who intends to make agriculture his business should have a course of training along this line.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

The writer's elementary and primary training in agriculture was before the era of the chilled steel plow and other tools and with the ox team as motive power. The grain was sown and the corn planted by hand, the mowing all done with a scythe, the cutting of the grain with a cradle, the thrashing either done with a flail or the grain tramped out by horses on the barn floor, the time when the hired man had to be furnished with his ration of whisky in haying and harvest, when the hunting and the fishing was of the best and when society was not bothered with women's clubs and pink teas, when the meat supply for the farm was killed and cured on the farm, when a supply of maple sugar was made every spring and a barrel or two of sorghum, molasses in the fall—the good old days, we call them now, days whose work, worry and privation we have forgotten, only remembering those things which modern progress and development have deprived us of. The years have robbed the farm of much of its slavery and in doing so has destroyed much of its sentiment.

Men are a good deal like cabbages—when they get the big head they burst and become worthless.

Corrosion of farm tools and erosion of farm soils are two things which have to be eternally watched.

A horse never takes up a meaner trick than that of pulling on the halter. We would trade a horse with this habit for a balky one any time.

A pleasing innovation for the residents of the north country this season has been twenty-five cent baskets of fine Elberta peaches from Texas during July.

Macaroni wheat is growing greatly in favor all through the semiarid section of the country. While the millers are opposed to handling it, as it does not grind well with modern milling machinery, it still makes the finest of bread, hardly distinguishable from the best made from patent flour.

We have been propping up some fruit trees lately to prevent the breaking of the branches with the load of fruit which the trees are carrying. While in common with others we do this, it is still all wrong, for the fruit should have been thinned to such a load as the trees could carry without support.

What can be done with the pond hole that cannot be drained? If we had it on our farm we would work at it with a scraper in a dry time and make good banks around it; then we would plant trees all around it, preferably willows, and have a right pretty little spot instead of an unsightly and worthless swamp.

It would be a double blessing if the flood waters of the Missouri river could be captured and stored for irrigation purposes. It would make the desert worth $100 per acre and save millions of dollars' loss each year to the dwellers of the river low lands from Fort Benton to St. Louis. Some day this work will be done.

If you have a patch of that measly squirrel tail grass in your meadow or pasture it will pay to get after it and prevent its further spread. The secret of its extermination is to prevent its going to seed. Mow early and again later if it shoves up a second crop of heads. It is a costly pest in the meadow, for its presence lowers the value of all hay which has it in.

There is any amount of land in the south—in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, which intelligently devoted to the culture of vegetables for the northern markets and fruits will net the owner $100 per acre clean profit year in and year out, while the man on the good corn belt farm thinks he is doing well if he gets one-tenth as much.

We may be wrong, but we do not see how a man could fail to make good money and a whole lot of it by getting a piece of good land in Oklahoma and making a business of raising early potatoes for the northern market. He would be sure of $1 a bushel for his crop one year with another. He could also raise another crop on the land after the potato crop was removed.

We have been renovating a three-year-old strawberry bed recently. Just as soon as the last berries were gathered the bed was mowed off as close as possible to the ground. The bed was then thoroughly worked over with a six tooth horse cultivator, leaving only a six inch strip of the old plants untouched. This will be followed by repeated cultivation until fall. While not as good as a bed set this spring with new plants, this treatment will insure a fairly productive bed for next year.

Nothing should be watched more closely than the condition of the cow pasture in August, that dry, hot time which stops the growth of the grass, when the cows will put in most of their time fighting flies. A milk yield then and thus reduced is never fully regained later. If the cows must remain in the pasture, poor though it be, the morning and evening ration should be a liberal one—sweet corn, summer silage, early cut hay and bran. The month of August is quite often more of a milk shrinker than the coldest weather of the winter.

THE BOY AND HIS ACRE.

The boy was given an acre of fairly good land to work, he to have what he could raise on it. What did he do with it? He worked mornings and evenings until he had put twenty loads of manure on the land as a starter. He then plowed and harrowed it down until it was in as good condition as a garden. He then planted one-half of it with the very earliest maturing potatoes he could find, and the other half he put into blackseed onions. The potatoes he cultivated thoroughly with a horse cultivator, the onions with a hand cultivator, hiring some boys to help him weed out the latter crop. The season was favorable, and he sold sixty bushels of early potatoes at $1 a bushel and 250 bushels of onions later at 45 cents a bushel, receiving for his crop a total of $172.50 less $15 for help and $7 for seed. He will take in the world's fair this year and do the Pike to a finish. Other boys might do just as well if they would.

ALFALFA EXPERIMENTS.

The growing of alfalfa is receiving marked and increasing attention in all the states east of the Missouri river. Most of the work being done is experimental, small patches tried on different soils and locations. Enough success has rewarded these efforts so that the good work will be more and more extended. It seems to be definitely settled that the failures are more traceable to the soil not being properly inoculated with the bacterial life essential to the development and health of the plant than any other thing. Alfalfa is such a needed factor in the food ration of the corn belt region that no effort to secure it should be left undone. A ten acre field of alfalfa on any 160 acre farm would enable the owner to perfectly balance all the rations fed his stock from the hen to the horse. There is no one thing which is so well worth experimenting with as alfalfa.

THE RURAL MAIL SERVICE.

Reforms move slowly out on the farms, but the rural mail service has proved an exception to this rule. In just a few years, about five, 11,000,000 country people have come to be served with a daily mail, and no greater boon was ever devised for the farmers of the country. The first postmaster general who was intrusted with a small appropriation to experiment with in this line was so opposed to the scheme on general principles that one of the first routes he laid out was in the mountain district of a southern state where the people make moonshine whisky and can't read or write, where of course the rural mail was a dead failure. Later it was tried in more civilized communities with entire success and has steadily grown into its present enormous proportions.

SHE WON'T WALK.

There is little doubt that if the American woman would take more outdoor exercise she would be much stronger and healthier. The American woman does not take kindly to walking as does her English sister, who makes as serious a business of her daily walk as she does of her church going. Nothing like a walk to drive away the megrims and blues, to put color in the cheek, to bring the sharp appetite and the refreshing slumber. The Englishwoman walks regardless of any business to call her abroad; the American will only walk when she has somewhere to go or can't catch a street car. But our women are great on buggy riding and have found out that walking develops large feet, and that settles it.

THE SPECIALIST.

It is always a good thing for a farmer to specialize in one or two things, to be known as a producer of the best in some line of crop or as a breeder of some one line of improved stock. This may be done without trouble on any farm and in no manner interfere with that diversified type of agriculture which always insures the best results. The best things are produced by specialists, the best stock by the man who keeps to one breed. It is worth something to take the first prize at the county fair on any farm product. It sets the neighbors to talking, and they are almost sure to want some of your seed or your stock at good long prices. Then there is the satisfaction of it.

A good way to cure a horse which is afraid of the cars is to take him to the depot and, tying him securely, let him stay and get used to them. It does not take long to effect a cure.

It has come to this—that it is not easy to find a man who can either grind or whet a scythe, build a stack of grain which will shed water or who knows how to butcher a hog or a sheep.

Shippers of stock to the Chicago stockyards should take notice that the shipments are always overdone on Mondays and Wednesdays of each week, to the serious loss of the shippers.

So you want to get a start, young man, do you? Well, you will earn, say, $7 this coming week. Just take $3 of that and put it where you can't get at it and repeat this game every week for two years.

THE FLEMINGS FOREGATHERED.

Annual Reunion of the Clan Held at Windfall on Aug. 12.

On Aug. 12 about 90 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Fleming of Leroy township, met at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Haflet at Windfall, for a family reunion; Mrs. Haflet being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming. A large tent had been erected and everything done to make it pleasant for all; the tables were tastefully arranged and tastefully decorated with sweet peas, nasturtiums, geraniums, dahlias, etc., and every one trying to make it pleasant and a day long to be remembered. There is probably not another family in the county with a family record equal to the Fleming family. The late F. R. Fleming died at the advanced age of 89 years, Mrs. Fleming at the age of 85 years. Eleven children were born to them ten of whom are now living. The eldest, Mrs. M. F. Shoemaker of Windfall, is nearly 74 years old and the youngest, Asa Fleming is 55 years.

Four sons, Joseph, now deceased, William, Alden and Frank and four sons-in-law served in the Civil war. Alden receiving several medals for bravery.

Of the ten children living the following with their respective husbands and wives were presnt: Mrs. M. T Shoemaker, Mrs. Rebecca Haflet, Alden Fleming, Windfall; Mrs. W. H. May, Bentley Creek; Mrs. J. Ellis, Grover; Frank Fleming, Grover, David Fleming, Leroy. This reunion was so well attended that it was decided to make it a permanent organization. It had been the custom for about 30 years previous to the parents deaths for the sons and daughters with their families meet with the aged father and mother on Aug. 12, for a family picnic it being the birthday anniversary of the father; but these picnics were discontinued at the death of the parents, and in memory of the beloved parents and grandparents these reunions will be held.

The following officers were elected for the coming year. President, W. H. May, Bentley Creek; treasurer, Philander Fleming, Windfall; secretary, Mrs. Anna Rathbun, Grover. After a sumptuous diner an impromptu literary programme was arranged consisting of remarks, solos, duets, trios and recitations, which were nicely rendered and enjoyed by all after which all departed for their homes to meet Aug. 12, 1905, at Burdette Fleming's, Windfall, Pa.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Correspondent Asks What About Good Roads and Sign Boards.

Ulster, Pa., R. F. D. 20.
Aug. 22, 1904.

Editors Reporter-Journal and Republican.

I would like to know what has become of the Good Roads movement in Bradford county. Improved roads are being put in in a large number of places in different parts of the state under the new law, but if there is any in this county where is it? Are we to lose our share of the appropriation. We certainly can afford to begin. Money must be plenty as I understand that one township has opened two schools that have been closed instead of the modern idea of consolidation, increasing taxation instead of lowering it. If we can do this why cannot we build a little modern road.

Also why is not the guide board law better enforced in this county? As I understand it the law provides something like this: It is the duty of the commissioners of each township to provide and place at the intersection of the roads guide boards indicating to the traveler the way or place to which each road leads. In default of this it is the duty of the constables to make a return to court at the next session of the grand jury of this neglect. The commissioners are indictable for failure to keep up guide boards. If the constable is guilty of neglect have him hauled over the coals. One object lessons would be enough.

Yours very truly
Martin E. Gerould.

Ahead of All Systems.

A prominent writer on financial topics says that "newspaper advertising today stands ahead of all systems used to give publicity. Whether it be a soap concern, a new perfume, or a hatter, such advertising is an important matter to be considered so long as it does its work for the advertiser. An advertisement, in the best newspapers, of a bond sale will assure the receipt of many times the average offerings expected."—Philadelphia Record.

STATE FIGHT OPENED

Republicans Preparing For Aggressive Movement All Along Line.

LIST OF ORATORS MADE UP.

Chairman Penrose and Secretary Andrews Have the Plan of Campaign Well Defined and Predict a Big Victory.

Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—The Republican campaign in Pennsylvania has been formally opened, and it is predicted that the Keystone state will, when the votes shall be counted in November, continue to lead the column of Republican states of the union by the size of her Republican majority.

Work at headquarters of the Republican state committee in this city has been under way for a week, and very satisfactory progress has been made. In the absence of Senator Boies Penrose, the chairman, Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, secretary of the state committee, has been in charge, and he expects to have all the preliminaries of the canvass disposed of before the chairman shall return. There has been a vast amount of correspondence already with the chairmen of the county committees and other active Republicans throughout the state, and reports received from various quarters indicate that the Republicans of this state are taking a very lively interest in the coming election, and that they will continue to do so until the polls are closed on election day.

Hundreds of well-known Republicans from the interior of the state and from the several wards of this city have called at the state headquarters and volunteered their services for campaign work. Many young men who have not heretofore taken a hand in politics have asked to be enrolled for organization purposes, and a long list of orators has been made up for Chairman Penrose to call upon when occasion shall require that they be dispatched to different parts of the state to address mass meetings.

There are a thousand and one things to be put into shape before the active outdoor campaigning shall be inaugurated, and it is this work that is engaging the attention of Secretary Andrews, who, with a score of stenographers, is busy until late every evening at the headquarters on Locust street, above Broad.

This building is admittedly the best equipped and most desirable headquarters of any political organization in the country. The property has been leased by the Republican organization of Pennsylvania for a number of years, and it is admirably suited for the purposes for which it is being used.

Since the last campaign the building has been thoroughly renovated and made more attractive in many ways.

Chairman Penrose and Secretary Andrews have adjoining offices on the second floor, each with an outlook on Locust street.

Chairman Penrose and Secretary Andrews had several conferences before the senator departed on his vacation, and the plans for the campaign were fully mapped out. Senator Penrose has just written home that he expects to be back in this city by September 1. He is having an enjoyable time riding on horseback in the wilds of Wyoming and Idaho, and will without doubt return in splendid health to take up the work of the chairmanship of the state committee and press the campaign vigorously during the last eight weeks of the contest.

A meeting of the Republican state committee will be held on or about September 12, at which nominations will be made to fill vacancies on the presidential electoral ticket. Some of those who were nominated for these honors by the Republican state convention have been found to be ineligible for the position by reason of the fact that they are connected with national banks. They must either resign their positions in these financial institutions or get off the ticket. Some will retire from the ticket, while others have expressed a determination to temporarily withdraw from their connection with national banks so that they may have an opportunity to vote in the electoral college for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

The meeting of the state committee will afford Chairman Penrose an opportunity to personally confer with the active men from the different counties and to have them report as to the condition of the party organization in their respective districts.

There have been many calls for literature bearing upon the present campaign, and as soon as the national committee shall be in a position to meet this demand a supply will be gotten for distribution directly from the state headquarters in this city. The speech of Chairman Cannon, of the Republican national convention, and copies of the national platform are among the documents for which the greatest number of requests have been received.

It is not intended that the speech-making part of the campaign shall be inaugurated before the middle of September. At present there are so many persons away on their vacation trips that it would not be wise to hold political meetings at this time. There will be ample opportunity during the months of September and October to hold all the meetings that shall be necessary to rally Republicans of the old Keystone state about their party standard for the victory which is assured in November next.

A Sarcastic Rejoinder.

A Great and Good School.

We have just received the catalog of the Literary Institute and State Normal school at Bloomsburg, Pa., and have been greatly interested in its contents. We note that emphasis is first laid on the preparation of young people for the profession of teaching. (See pages 8 and 9. Also pages12 to 24 inclusive.) A practice school is maintained in which those preparing to teach, have daily experience under the supervsion of critic teachers in all the branches of the public school curriculum. At the same time, instruction in Academic Studies is given by College and university trained specialists, so that thorough scholarship as well as rare skill in teaching is acquired.

Comercial courses (pages 11, 29, 39.) and courses preparing for the various Colleges, including the Medical College are also maintained, (pages 10, 24 to 27.) All this with the pupil under the best social and moral influences, makes the Bloomsburg school the best fitting school to be found anywhere. The catalog is interesting reading, giving as it does the means and methods of an up-to-date school. The marvel of it is, how such superior advantages can be offered at such low rates. Send for catalog. It is worth having whether you expect to attend or not. Address,

J. P. Welsh, Principal.

RIVER REVIVALISTS.

Man and Wife Engaged in Religious Work Travel in Small Boat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Orne of New York who calls themselves "river evangelists" were in Athens for a short time Wednesday coming here by a skiff on the Chemung river from Elmira and continuing their journey down the Susquehanna to Towanda where they propose to hold services. In an interview with a representative of the Evening News, Mr. Orne said that they were traveling in the interest of juvenile criminals and indigent children, and he claimed to be the author of the juvenile laws now on the statue books of many states. He said that he and his wife journeyed through this region about eight years ago in "Gospel Wagon No. 1" Eighteen years ago he gave up an annual salary of $5,000 in an evangelical church to take up this work and since then has traveled in nearly every state in the union, only having seven cents in his pocket when he left home. Since May 1896 he had traveled 95,000 miles. When asked how he got his support said that he didn't get it. He received no regular remuneration from any source but still he and his wife had never been in want of enough to eat and wear.—Athens News.

LEASING OIL LANDS.

Coudersport Parties Securing Control of Local Territory.

A. R. Moore of Coudersport, representing capitalists of that section, has been for some months working in Bradford and Sullivan counties leasing lands for the purpose of drilling for oil and gas. Large tracts have already been secured in Sullivan county. In Asylum township, this county, alone some 5,000 acres have been put under lease. The Laning farm and other properties in Wysox township are included, as well as lands in Towanda and Monroe townships and the vicinity of Canton.

Despite the failure of prospectors to find oil and gas in paying quantities during a series of efforts covering many years, the men behind the present leases are confident that they exist in this territory and propose to make a thorough development.

BARNES IN JAIL.

The Famous George Is at Last Landed in the Bastile.

George Barnes is at last an inmate of the county jail. George is wanted on the charge of stealing coal from the Lehigh Valley. He made his escape twice from Towanda officers, the last time running through the shallow water east of town and getting out of sight on one of the islands.

Saturday night Barnes was located at the home of an aunt about three miles from Athens. Chief Mulligan and a posse went after him but the aunt kept them away for a time by hurling pieces of cord wood from the second story window. Finally George surrendered. He was brought here Monday by Chief Mulligan.

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH S OLD VIRGINIA Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

JUDGE PARKER'S PROMISE.

Judge Parker's speech of acceptance has almost ceased to be a subject for discussion. Beyond the temporary interest which the utterance of a candidate of a great party naturally excites there has been very little comment upon it. It was a tame and disappointing speech and has left no distinct impress upon the public mind. Judicious and cautious, it bears throughout the impress of conservative temper and the legal training of its author. It is plain through the whole tenor of the address that Judge Parker is under no illusions about the canvas and he disarms rivalry at the outset by saying that he wants only one term. Does the Judge remember the letter of acceptance by his friend Cleveland 20 years ago in which the candidate urged a constitutional amendment disqualifying the president from re-election? Cleveland, too, wanted only a single term. When he got that he accepted the second nomination, and beaten then, he took a third candidacy and a second term, while many of his Democratic fellow citizens believed a short time ago, and some of them believe still, that he would have accepted a fourth nomination if it had been offered to him. No candidate can foresee the events of four years and is not, therefore, in a position to announce so far in advance that he will not again be elected to the office to which he has been called. If judge Parker should be elected president this year and should prove to be a wise and successful ruler he could not refuse four years hence to be a candidate for re-election.

The judge promises to talk about other things in his letter of acceptance, but after reading the platitudes and inanities of the address, the country will not be impatient to hear from him again.

SHELLPROOF BATTLESHIPS.

In building new battleships the navy department aims to have only the most modern and perfect construction obtainable. The two ships now building are examples. The battleship Louisiana will be launched at Newport News next Saturday, and the sister battleship, Connecticut, will be launched at the New York navy yard on Thursday, Aug. 29. They will be the greatest battleships in the United States navy, and it is presumed they will be equal to the greatest battleships of any nation.

They will be 450 feet long, and 76 feet 10 inches wide, and they carry enough 12-inch, 8-inch and 7-inch guns for a siege battery. The vital portions will be covered with Krupp armor from 11 inches to nine inches thick. The recent experience with the new Krupp armor in the Far Eastern war is that eight inches of armor will resist a 12-inch shell. If that is the case these big battleships will be shell proof.

An experimental train was run through the New York subway Friday and the distance between city hall and Harlem was covered in the promised time—15 minutes. The train crew was perfectly organized, and there was not a single hitch in the whole proceedings. Trains will be run over the entire route, and about fifteen hundred men will receive instructions in handling the cars during the month. After a provoking number of promises and delays the subway is now assured. The great noise noticeable in Paris, London and Boston subways will not be so much in evidence as a number of new devices have been employed in the construction of the cars.

In view of the pending extinction of the Port Arthur fleet, and of the defeat and weakening of the Vladivostok squadron, we may assume that the dispatch of Russia's Baltic fleet to the Pacific will be definitely renounced. To what naval station could it repair? The Japanese flag will soon be floating over Port Arthur, and Admiral Togo and Vice Admiral Kamimura between them could find it easy to close the two entrances to Vladivostok, which harbor, moreover, will presently be blocked with ice. The war, in a word, is over, so far as naval operations are concerned.—Sun.

THE TYPEWRITER'S "FATHER."

With the death of John M. Jones of Palmyra, at his home there recently, the business world loses a man who did much toward making possible the typewriters of commerce of today. He it was who perfected the first typewriter ever made—in 1845. Mr. Jones was an inventor of some note but he was best known to the world through that achievement. Nearly every machine shop in the country today is using something that John Jones invented. His whole life was given up to study and invention, but with all his works the one that brings him most prominently before the world is his invention of the typewriter.

The type-writing machine invented by him in 1855 was the first one ever built, and the first one ever patented. Mr. Jones had some difficulty in finding anybody who would manufacture the machines, as there was much less letter-writing in those days than there is now; but even under the conditions that prevailed then he manufactured and sold over two hundred of the machines. At the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893 Mr. Jones' machine was the first one in the line showing the advancement made in them since they were first manufactured.

Printing presses were also in Mr. Jones' line, and he made the Globe presses, which are even now well known. He settled in Palmyra in 1855, the year in which he perfected his type-writing machine, and soon afterward began manufacturing hand presses on a small scale. He kept on improving his machines until 1858, when he established the Globe, which soon became famous. He continued with this plant until 1872, when he built and established his own works, known as the Jones Printing Press Works, and it was there that he made the Jones' Gordon press for many years, one of which is in the plant of the Towanda Printing company. He was at the head of that institution until a few years ago.

Mr. Jones was an astronomer of note besides a manufacturer and a short time ago he buit and patented an astronomical machine called the "planitarium" which is now used extensively in schools and academies. His latest invention was an improved incubator on which he had just received the patents. Besides the typewriter and job presses that he invented he also made a cylinder press and several styles of paper cutters, and he was the originator of the impression throw-off with which every job press in the country is equipped.

Mr. Jones was 85 years old at his death and leaves four sons.

CARRYING DEADLY WEAPONS.

There are too many persons floating around the world with shooting irons in their pockets. In a moment of anger the guns are flashed out and another murder is displayed in the newspapers. Hoboes, dare devils about small towns, gamblers, carry guns which they use more or less frequently as they deem bravado and temper demand. The law forbids carrying concealed weapons and this is rightly so as a great majority of murders come from the class that make a habit of being armed with revolvers and knives.

Particularly dangerous is the practice when followed by men of passionate temperament. In the hands of such men a knife or a revolver is a standing temptation to commit manslaughter on the slightest provocation. The evils of the practice fall almost as heavily on the perpetrators of the crimes it leads to as on the victims. Instances are numerous in which men have committed crimes they afterwards bitterly regretted all because of the tempting presence of the means at a time when passion or intoxication had temporarily dethroned reason.

If the law which forbids the carrying of concealed deadly weapons could be enforced there would be vastly fewer cases of homicide in the state. Unfortunately it is an offense which is only detected after some overt crime committed in which the weapon is brought into action.

The small merchants of Brooklyn and the outlying sections of the city are threatening to make trouble for the trading stamp companies. Some months ago they effected an organization, each member of which agreed not to take the stamps. Lately it has appeared that this is not an effective method of dealing with the growing "evil," and now they are to have a number of public meetings at which the trading stamps will be denounced before the consumers. One objection urged against these concerns is that their "premium parlors" are usually connected with some big department store, and thus the customers of the little fellows form the habit of going out of their own territory to make purchases.

"We have used magazines and we have tried outdoor display," says the head of a large shoe business, "but we have withdrawn from these and other kinds of advertising, not because we were dissatisfied with them but for the reason that we wished to extend as much of our appropriation as we could on the daily newspapers. The daily is the only medium that pounds constantly."—Philadelphia Record.

JURORS AND PRIOR OPINIONS.

Judge Landis of Lancaster County has taken a stand that must be commended by all sensible men, with reference to the notion that a man is necessarily disqualified from serving as a juror in a case concerning which he has formed an opinion previous to his being called as a juror. The Lancaster jurist will preside at the term of court at which will be tried the men charged with the murder of a toll-gate-keeper in Lancaster County some time ago and he evidently apprehended that there would be the usual difficulty in securing a juror, on account of the large number of jurors who, in order to escape a disagreeable duty, plead that they "have read about the case in the newspapers," that they "have formed opinions which could not be changed by evidence," and so on. What Judge Landis said on that subject is so interesting as well as so thoroughly to the point that we quote the following:

"There is an impression—rather general—that the mere forming of an opinion or the expression of one prior to the trial even if conscientiously done, absolutely disqualifies a juror from serving therein. This impression is a wrong one which needs to be righted. In these days when almost every man reads newspapers and is made fully acquainted with current events there are few capital cases, or those of any sensational character, the facts of which are not, in a way, spread abroad in the public prints and read by all intelligent citizens. From these reports, it is not unnatural that some impression should be made upon the minds of readers as to the perpetrator of the crime which is thus narrated. But can sensible and honest men, regardful of their oaths, say that if they are sworn as jurors, the bias or even prejudice derived from such a source would not be removed by evidence of a contrary character, if such were produced upon the trial? Will they assert that they have by such means, been so influenced and fixed in their opinions that they are prevented from rendering a verdict in accordance with the sworn evidence? Such men are, of course, not fit to act as jurors in that they fail within that category? Will not men of judgment change their first impressions when confronted by evidence from the witness stand which appeals to their reason when they come to make up their verdict:

There is an other plea which many jurors put forward to escape service in cases of capital crime, and that is that they are "conscientiously" opposed to capital punishment, and consequently would not render a verdict of murder in the first degree no matter what the evidence might be." The Wilkesbarre Record says, it is safe to say that in nine cases in every ten that plea is a mere subterfuge to escape service on the jury in a murder trial.

BOYS AND THE FARM.

An excnange says lots of boys are driven from the farm by the treatment they receive there. You cannot work a boy from ten to fourteen hours a day, begrudging him a day off and depriving him of an opportunity to make a little money and have a little fun on his own account, and then expect he is going to stay on the farm. Boys are not built that way. But if you treat them right, encourage their originality and foster their development and the doing of things for themselves, the average boy is level-headed enough to realize the advantages offered by rural life. Some fathers make the mistake of trying to drive boys instead of working with them, or fail to recognize the rapidity with which a bright boy gains knowledge and experience between 12 and 20, and how more quickly he may know some matters than his father. The parents are as often at fault as the boys in those cases when the complaint cames that the boys will not stay on the farm.

Every school child knows that Pennsylvania is called the "Keystone State" but not every child under fifty knows why. In the Continental Congress at Philadelphia on July 4 1776, the vote adopting the Declaration of Independence was taken by the states. Of the thirteen, six voted in the affirmative and six in the negative, making a tie. Then John Morton, heading the Pennsylvania representatives, cast the deciding vote in the affirmative. It was a closer call than we like to admit in this generation. Pennsylvania saved the day and has ever since been styled the "Keystone State.

Pierpont Morgan smokes rather a good brand of cigars. He has them made especially for himself by a firm in Cuba. They are very large and strong and they cost him 45 cents apiece, even when he buys them by the thousand. One of his business associates pays 88 cents for each of his smokes, but Mr. Morgan regards this price as wasteful and extravagant.

LOOK TO CONGRESS.

Pennsylvania Has Much at Stake in the Next Election.

AGGRESSIVE FIGHT TO BE MADE

A United States Senator and Thirty-two Representatives to the House Who Will Vote On Tariff Legislation Will Be Chosen.

Harrisburg, Aug. 23.—Naturally interest centres here in the selection of members of the general assembly, as the next legislature, which meets here in January next, will be called upon to elect a United States senator for the full term of six years to succeed Governor Pennypacker's appointee, Philander Knox.

Among the nominees for the senate and the house who have been placed in the field already are many new candidates, and there is considerable speculation regarding the outcome of the contests in several districts.

The election of a stalwart Republican to the United States senate is of paramount importance to the vast industrial and other interests of Pennsylvania, as is also the matter of the election of Republican candidates for the national house of representatives.

The election of candidates for the legislature, who will have a vote on the United States senatorship, and the success of Republican nominees in the 32 congressional districts in this state will occupy the attention of the party leaders from now until the 8th of November next, when the ballots will be cast and counted.

Senator Penrose, as chairman of the Republican state committee, will give personal attention to this phase of the campaign, and he will have the hearty co-operation of every loyal member of the Republican organization throughout the state.

The fight for the election of these candidates will be made upon clean-cut lines, and will be aggressive from the start.

The voters of Pennsylvania will have impressed upon them the fact that the Democracy has ever been antagonistic to the Pennsylvania idea of the protective tariff, and that it is vitally essential that the Republican majorities in both branches of congress shall be maintained, in order that the great manufacturing interests, the vast army of industrial workers and the millions upon millions of capital invested, shall be kept free from harmful legislation at Washington.

In some respects, Republican loss of congress would be more disastrous to Pennsylvania's interests than the loss of the presidency.

It is pointed out that the Republicans have a majority of less than 30 in the present house of representatives and that a change of 15 votes would give the house to the Democrats.

It is known that the Democrats are figuring upon gains in the congressional districts of Pennsylvania.

Colonel Guffey and his associates in the management of the Democratic machine have been boasting to the Tammany leaders in New York that they will have a gain of half a dozen congressmen in this state, and they have persuaded the party managers to put up a liberal campaign fund to put their plans into operation.

They are talking of carrying the Luzerne, Lackawanna and Schuylkill districts in the anthracite coal regions, and are predicting as absolutely certain to go Democratic the York-Adams district, the Berks-Lehigh district, the Northampton - Monroe - Pike - Carbon district and the Northumberland-Columbia-Montour district, and one or two others.

The Democrats are always hopeful, particularly in national campaigns, but this time they seem to be unusually aggressive. This fact has made the Republican leaders determined to leave nothing undone to rouse the Republican committeemen and others throughout the commonwealth and have them put forward their best efforts to thwart the Democratic plans.

Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, who is in charge at the Republican state headquarters in Philadelphia during the temporary absence of Chairman Penrose, wrote to a friend in this city a few days ago saying that it is Senator Penrose's intention to work to offset every move of the Democracy and to labor to keep their representation down to the lowest point possible.

The Democrats now have three members of the house from Pennsylvania—Kline, of Lehigh; Schull, of Monroe; and Dickerson, of Northumberland.

Senator Penrose believes that he will be able to hold them down to three members, and he may succeed in cutting them down to two.

This will require a vast amount of work and the expenditure of much energy in lining up the party workers to get the Republican voters out on election day.

The greatest danger to the Republican cause will be in the apathy of the voters. It is difficult to make Republicans in Pennsylvania believe that there is any Democratic party in this state, but time and again the minority party has succeeded in electing members of congress through Republican indifference or over-confidence.

It is not intended that this shall be permitted in the present canvass.

An effective organization will be formed in every debatable congressional district, and a corps of trained orators will be available to address mass meetings to be arranged for by the chairmen of the several county committees.

HAY FEVER'S CONQUEROR.

Claimed That Smoked Glasses Will Cure It.

Hay fever sufferers in this section can try a new remedy. In Worcester, Mass., there is a doctor by the name of Frank E. Stowell. This doctor has long been subject to hay fever. In studying his own case he noticed that hay fever came and went in a very capricious manner, and he reached the conclusion that it was mostly a nervous disease. Somehow or other he reasoned himself into the belief that the sun's rays produced hay fever by acting in some way upon the eyes. So he thought to try smoked glasses for the eyes, to se if that would prevent his hay fever.

He reports that the smoked glasses gave instant relief. But if he went out in the sun without the glases he was sure to have hay fever again. So now he wears smoked glasses and is happy. He has no more hay fever. He says that he has tried the glasses on two or three other patients and claims that the same relief is obtained.

SLACKNESS OF WORK.

Falloff in Anthracite Tonnage Having Its Effect at Sayre.

The slackness of work in the anthracite regions has produced its effect in Sayre. With comparatively little coal to transport, the Lehigh has lost its principal resource for traffic. The general officers of the road have ordered that the employes of the locomotive shops shall work but 32 hours per week until conditions change. The time is divided into four days of eight hours each per week. The force on the Sayre roundhouse has been reduced one-half. This is the first time since Sayre became a railroad center that orders have been issued curtailing roundhouse work. The employes are divided into two shifts working on alternate days and alternate nights. The employes of the car shops have not been put on reduced time and advantage will be taken of the slackness to put the rolling stock in good condition.

Can't Stump a Railroader.

A Tunkhannock correspondent gives this illustration of the resourcefulness of the average railroader: "Byron Kelly has for many years officiated as baggage master and express agent here. On Thursday while loading a coop of game chickens one escaped, but with the assistance of several helpers, a fish line, a hook and a few kernels of corn the chicken was secured and sent to its destination."

FOUND DEAD IN ROAD.

Daniel Kelly of Overton Met Accidental Death on Tuesday Night.

Daniel Kelly who resides about a mile from Overton, was found dead in the road between that place and his home on Wednesday morning of last week. He attended the picnic at Overton Tuesday and after it closed—about 11 o'clock—he started to drive home. From the appearance of the body it is thought that something happened to the harness and Mr. Kelly got out to fix it. While thus engaged he was either thrown under the horse and trampled or the horse became entangled in the harness and fell on him. At any rate the horse was lying on him when he was found and was so tangled up in the harness that it could not rise. Deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and six children.—Dushore Herald.

The general dedication will take place at 2 p. m. at the national cemetery at Sharpsburg.

The President of the United States and the governors of Pennsylvania and Maryland will be present and make addresses. A rate of one fare for the round trip has been made from all points to Antietam, good from Sept. 14 to Sept. 23.

Montrose Wants Hotel.

Montrose never had so many summer visitors as this season and every year they are increasing. When some enterprising man or men decide that Montrose should have a summer hotel accommodating several hundred persons they will not lack for "boarders." One would be surprised at the number of houses around town where there are lodgers. If the Board of Trade could arrange for the erection of a large summer hotel it would without doubt prove one of the greatest possible benefits to the town.—Montrose Repubican.

Potter County Lads Put It All Over Local Team.

The Austin base ball team played horse with Towanda Thursday and in a contest which was too pitiful to be amusing landed a victory to the tune of 13 to 0. Austin has a ball team. There is no doubt about that. She made only two erros, she cracked Cotter for 12 hits and Shay for one and she had a pitcher. His name is Brown. He is a hard muscled fellow who takes lots of time to pitch but places the balls so that Towanda only had 31 men up to bat in the nine innings. He fanned five batsmen.

M. Madigan made a three-bagger in the second inning for Towanda and a single in the eighth and Russell got one in the eighth. Austin made two runs in the second on a comedy of errors without a single hit and in the third made two more on an error and two hits. In the seventh Austin made seven hits which netted seven runs With six runs in Shay went in to pitch and Austin made one more. Cotter went in again in the eighth. Dunfee caught for Towanda until the ninth inning when he had his hand hurt by a pitched ball. Russell then took his place. Russell played in center until the fourth when J. Madigan was put in by Captain Shay. Cotter fanned eight men and with the exception of the fatal seventh pitched a good game. Six errors by Towanda contributed to the slaughter.

Score by innings:

Austin	0	2	2	0	0	0	7	2	0	13

Umpire—Dunfee.

The Second Game.

With the game apparently cinched 3 and 1 in favor of Towanda at the end of the eighth inning, Austin took a spurt in the first half of the ninth that netted them three hits and four runs. That in brief is the story of Friday's ball game. It was a heartbreaker, and a decidedly different exhibition of ball than the Thursday game. For five innings neither side scored; in the sixth each got one. In the eighth M. Madigan was hit by a pitched ball; Kline put out a three-bagger to center, and followed Madigan home on an error by center field. That drove the fans wild. But their joy was short lived. A single, a two-bagger, an error, a base on balls and a three-bagger netted four runs. That is all

The game dragged for two hours and ten minutes, and was characterized by the unwarranted kicking of the Austin team. B. F. Dunfee umpired. Thompson and Ryan were the Towanda battery. Thompson fanned 7. Kirwin and Marnan were the Austin battery; Kirwin struck out 2. The attendance ran into the thousands.

DEATH AT HORNBROOK.

Mrs. David Horton Passed Away at Home There on Sunday.

Mrs. David Horton died at her home at Hornbrook on Sunday morning at 7 o'clock after a long illness of nervous prostration. She had been confined to her bed for the past eight years and death came as a relief to her long suffering. She was 76 years of age and was before her marriage a Miss Newell who lived near Canton. Besides the husband two sons Sevellan and Spalding survive. The deceased was an estimable woman and was for over 40 years a member in the Methodist church.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the church at Hornbrook with burial there.

SAT ON BABY AT DANCE.

Thinking the Infant Dead, An Undertaker Was Called.

While the dance was in progress at the Opera House Wednesday night at Coudersport, a young woman left her 15-months-old child seated in a chair while she went to dance. A man sat down on the child and injured her so that it was believed she was dead. She was taken to an undertaking establishment for dead, but to the surprise of all showed signs of life. Doctors were summoned and treated the child, who is now doing nicely.

Sayre Disgruntled.

According to the Sayre department of the Athens News that town feels disgruntled over the results of the races and contests at the firemen's convention here Friday. The correspondent claims that Sayre should have had the hose race as "the watch of one of the judges showed 28 seconds and the watches of all the people who witnessed it showed the same with the exception of two persons and they were judges." Sayre also protested against Powers of Hornellsville to do the coupling for the Bache Hose team. They also said that the Packer band was entitled to the prize in the band contest.

Suspected Black Leg.

Dr. R. G. Rice was at Laceyville Monday making investigations for the state veterinarian regarding some acute disease of cattle in the herd of J. W. Furman which has caused several of Mr. Furman's cattle to die in a few hours after becoming affected. It is thought the disease may prove to be black leg and if this is the case all the remaining cattle will be subjected to the vaccination for this disease which will produce an immunity for about one year.

Did Not Have to Walk Home.

Traveling Passenger Agent Wingert of the Lehigh Valley, lost his case of passes in Towanda Friday, and desires them returned by the finder to any Lehigh Valley ticket agent. The company was good to him, and made it so he could get back to Ithaca without putting down the hard coin for his passage.

WHY NOT GOOD ROADS

Correspondent Asks and Brings Up Question Again.

BIG MONEY IS AVAILABLE.

Bradford County's Share in the State Appropriation for This Year Is $11,000—County Must pay $2,000 and Township Same.

A correspondent asks in a letter to this paper "What has become of the Good Roads movement in Bradford county?" The question of the correspondent brings up again a topic of vital interest to the county and to every township in it. By the recent good roads law passed by the state legislature a large sum of money was appropriated for good roads and Bradford county's share of this for the present year is $11,000. According to the law the state pays two-thirds and the county and township in which the road is built each one-sixth. For example, if a road should be built this year from the county seat out towards Wysox the state would pay $11,000, the county $1,833 and the township of Wysox $1,833, a total of $14,666. The first thing necessary to be done is to have a topographical map of the entire county made, with the grade every 100 feet and with every road, culvert, bridge, building and house on each side of the road. The road also must be built under the direction of an engineer from the state roads commission.

The expense of this and of other incidentals would probably leave about $10,000 for the road expenses proper and this would build two miles of road as the specifications of the state mean the expenditure of some $5,000 per mile. Petitions have been sent in to the county commissioners from Sheshequin, Wells, Columbia and Athens townships. The county commissioners have not as yet taken any active steps in the movement as the county treasury has been depleted by the unusually heavy demands from many other source of proper county expenditure.

The fact though that with the raising of some $3,666 by the county and township there could be secured $11,000 from the state would look like a very good business proposition. With the exception, perhaps of money expended for suitable stone for road purposes and the salary of the state engineer all the sum would be spent right here in Bradford county.

The stumbling point will be the raising of the $1,333 by some township, but as no townships will be allowed to bid on the construction of the roads that amount of money could be turned back again with money laid on top of it as interest on the investment. A heavy, pushing, demanding public opinion on the question of good roads would bring a start to Bradford county and not lose that pretty $11,000 that lies down at Harrisburg waiting for a seeker.

Drowned on Way Here.

Ralph Mastin a boy about 14 years of age, and son of Joseph Mastin, of Wellsboro, in company with Farnham Black, a colored boy of about the same age, started on foot for the firemen's convention at Towanda. On reaching Stokesdale the boys went in swimming in a deep pool, both boys could swim, but young Mastin seemed to suddenly be taken with cramps and in his struggles nearly dragged the colored boy down. He finally broke away from the drowning boy and ran for help but too late as it was some time before the body could be recovered.

Worked Bad Check.

A stranger came into Kilmer & Mingos's store Saturday night and bought a barrel of flour, directing that it be shipped to a number on Third street on Monday morning. He tendered a check for $18.06 on a Williamsport bank in payment. Mr. Kilmer gave him $13.06 in change but when he examined the check later he found that the date had been altered and it is undoubtedly a worthless piece of paper. No such person lives at the number on Third street given by the man.

Taken to County House.

Mrs. Ella Barber appeared before Justice of the Peace Johnson at Athens on Saturday asking help for her son, Earl, whose head was injured by a fall when the child was but two years old and who is now 22 years of age and unable to care for himself, and a vagrant. An order of relief was made out with Mrs. Barber and Dr. E. M. Cowell as the witnesses and the same being accepted by the county commissioners, Mr. Middaugh drove the young man to the county house.—Sayre Times.

Manufacturer and Jobber.

The manufacturer who does not advertise is at the mercy of the jobber. When, however, a manufacturer creates a demand for his own particular products through advertising the jobber is bound to handle them, and at such prices as the manufacturer may demand. As a matter of economy advertising should commend itself to the manufacturer.—Philadelphia Record.

Teacher Has Resigned.

Miss Elizabeth Vincent, who has for several years been a teacher in the Towanda public schools, has tendered her resignation to the board. Miss Vincent has made a very competent instructor and her resignation will be much regretted by the board and by her many friends among the patrons and pupils of the schools.

OLD MAN ROBBED.

Stranger Relieved Him of Watch and Roll of Bolls.

Not all of the thieving done in Towanda happened on Friday. On Saturday morning a man named Barney Kernan of Meshoppen, about 60 years of age, walked to the East Towanda station with three other men. One was a man named Aumick of this place and the other two were unknown to either Aumick or Kernan. After Kernan went to East Towanda he decided that he would not go home but would visit relatives that he had at Monroeton. The men all walked over and Aumick left at the Barclay station. Kernan and one of the other men walked down the track.

About two miles down the stranger got hold of the old man's pocketbook to examine it, removed the bills, asked to see what time it was, put the watch in his pocket and soon made his escape into the woods. Kernan reported the matter to the police but no arrests have been made yet. There was $16 in money in the pocketbook and the watch was worth $18.

PETTES CONFESSED.

Towanda Man Admitted He Assaulted and Robbed John Vargason.

Some three weeks ago John Vargason of Powell, was at Waverly and there fell in with a stranger who enticed him for a walk toward South Waverly. In a field there he was struck in the back of the head and robbed of $13 and a watch. The police arrested "Cordy" Sherman, who answered Vargason's description of his assailant. A Waverly bartender who saw the men together informed the officers that the robber was the husband of a Towanda woman. That set the local officers on the watch.

On Friday there was trouble between Susie Welch Pettes and William her husband. Pettes was arrested by Chief Miller and that evening in the lockup he confessed to being the man who robbed Vargason, and described how he hit him in the head with a stone, but claims he took but $8 from him. The watch was recovered.

PATHETIC APPEAL.

Norwich Ball Players Dissipate in Social Functions.

Base ball is a strenuous game and they who wish to succeed in it must keep in training. The directors of the Norwich, N. Y., team realize this, if the members do not. Hence the following appeal published in a local newspaper at the request of the directors:

"If the young ladies who are helping to entertain the members of the team have the best interests of the nine at heart they will deny themselves and send the boys home early. This is particularly necessary this week, as the team has five hard games ahead. We don't want to shut down on this entirely, for we realize how the boys feel about it when they are with the girls, but unless something is done we shall have to go out of business. So it is up to the girls to show their patriotism and see that the boys get their sleep."

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER.

One Charges Other With the Theft of $110.

William Jordan, an Italian who has been working in the vicinity of Laquin on Saturday forenoon swore out a warrant against his brother, Charles Jordan, charging him with forcing him to give up $180. Charles Jordan is the commissary of the Italian colony in the Laquin region and a leader among his countrymen there. William alleges that Charles returned $70 of the sum to him, retaining $110. The alleged robbery took place in a room in a hotel.

Charles Jordan put up $100 cash bail for a hearing before Justice Orcutt on Saturday next.

Horse Frightened to Death

On Monday evening Dr. C. A. Trexler of Knoxville, had his driver course his horse up and down the street in order to have the animal become accustomed to his automobile which was driven by the doctor himself. After several trials the horse appeared to have gotten over its fright from the machine when suddenly it dropped to the ground dead. The animal was valued at $250. The incident was witnessed by County Commissioner Reese and others. —Wellsboro Gazette.

After Many Years.

William McCormick of Erie, a former resident of Towanda, is revisiting the scenes of his early life. Mr. McCormick, best known as "Billy," to the older residents, has traveled all over the globe since leaving Towanda 42 years ago. As a young man he helped in the construction of the present Franklin Steamer company building and the county building now occupied by the Historical society and Grand Army.

Troy Gun Club Officers.

The annual election of the Troy Rod and Gun club the following officers were named for the ensuing year: President, F. E. VanDyne; vice-president, O. B. Ballard; secretary, R. A. Burr; treasurer, B. B. Mitchell; managers, F. L. Ballard and C. B. Kimber.

Wrong Man Claimed the Watch.

The leader of the Galeton band lost his watch in the car at Sayre while on his way to Towanda. The car inspector who found it turned it over to an officer, who in turn delivered it to a claimant who was not the owner. The Waverly chief of police on Friday captured the man who claimed the watch.

In the Spring

By A. S. RICHARDSON

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

North Glascow had never taken Mabel Farnham seriously nor known her to take life seriously, yet there had been a lingering hope in the minds of the gossips that when it came to the question of matrimony the pretty daughter of the big mill owner might be sensible for once.

But, then, North Glascow did not understand Mabel, and Mabel cared precious little whether it did or not. She did not feel called upon to detail her daily life nor analyze her motives for the edification of town gossips. That was why the sharp tongued women of the manufacturing town did not know that when Mabel went tearing through the main street on her little mare or trotted past in her dogcart she was pretty sure to drop into her father's dingy office with a kiss and a merry greeting. Nor could they dream that the young girl who danced when opportunity offered until almost morning tripped downstairs in the most bewitching negligees to pour her father's coffee and smiled sleepily, but good humoredly, across the table at him. What they did hear was that Mabel lay abed till 11 o'clock (which was quite true, for she went directly back to bed when her father had driven away) and sent to Boston for wrappers and coffee jackets of lace and silk, such as no respectable, hardworking woman in all North Glascow ever dreamed of wearing. They did not dream either that she wore cherry ribbons in those same negligees, when she loved blue best, just because her adoring father had once remarked that red was the only color in the rainbow worth considering.

At regular intervals what was known as the social set of Glascow went in its best array and as many carriages as the town could support to be entertained in state at the mill owner's brick and stone pile on the hill and came away to discourse on the shocking waste of electricity, the absurdly massive decorations of American Beauty roses, the dreadful expense of a caterer from Boston when Miss Louise Crocker could have managed the whole thing for half the price. And Mabel's gown! The brocade had surely come from Paris, and it was too elaborately trimmed for so young a girl. Well, it was a pity that Mrs. Farnham had not lived to steady down this frolicsome daughter and keep a restraining hand on the household expenses of Donald Farnham.

Little they knew how hateful the display was to Mabel, how she longed sometimes to close down the house, with its gilt furniture and plush hangings, and to join some of the girls she had met at college in their trips abroad, where the world was old and rich in art and book lore. But this was her father's life, the life for which he had longed in those early days when her pinafores were short and his working hours long. He was master of North Glascow today, and he reveled in his sense of greatness and power.

It was just when Mabel was hungering for a broader life, when North Glascow seemed unbearably narrow and when she had dazed its gossips by some particularly unconventional frolics that Harold Barndt came into their life.

For reasons not stated the elder Barndt wished his son well out of New York, for the winter at least. One of them was a certain pretty chorus girl who had settled herself in a little flat unpleasantly close to the great apartment house wherein dwelt the Barndt family. Mr. Farnham was indebted—or imagined he was—to Mr. Barndt, and a position for the younger Barndt was made somehow on the clerical staff at the mills. And quite as naturally young Barndt made for himself a place in the Farnham home. 'Twas the only fit place in the town, he explained to himself.

Mabel had always been accustomed to admiration, but now she woke up to the fact that there was keen rivalry for her hand. Young Barndt fretted a week or so for the pretty actress, and then decided that, averaging up points, Mabel had a trifle the best of it, to say nothing of her financial prospects, as the only child of the mill owner. Jimmy Crawford had loved her ever since the first day he had opened the big mill gate for Mabel, a dainty vision in white and a cherry sash. Jimmy had been a bobbin boy that day. Now he was superintendent, and a better superintendent did not boss a mill in all New England, said Mr. Farnham, which went to show that the owner of the mill judged the young superintendent by his ability to get work out of employees and not by the state of his affections. The latter would certainly have given the self made man much concern. He meant, when he had accumulated money enough, to marry Mabel into a family with blood.

Mabel had never taken Jimmy's devotion seriously until young Barndt appeared on the scene. Then something in the misery which she read in the face of her long devoted and much tried admirer appealed to her more womanly nature, and, though North Glascow never dreamed of it, Mabel was really thinking deeply of the future.

Matters came to a head on Halloween night. With young Barndt at her side, Mabel had driven through the crisp autumn aid to the Halloween frolic at Myrtle Graham's home. Barndt's roses were fastened under her cloak, and on the table at home the box of bonbons he had ordered sent to her each Saturday lay unopened. He had tucked her into the carriage, but now he sulked openly.

"These country social affairs are such a bore, don't you know. I suppose we shall bob for apples and ruin our clothes, and come home deucedly tired. I'd much rather have the evening at home, with you at the piano and the lamplight falling on your hair."

Mabel smiled in the dark. Would he always be satisfied with that domestic picture? she wondered.

* * * * * * * *

"Now, each girl must walk down to the spring, quite alone, and look into it for the face of her husband to be," announced the hostess in the tones of an oracle. She held up a white fascinator, for the night was cool, and Mabel's hand was the first to reach for it.

"I hope you are not going to endanger your health by such nonsense."

Mabel turned to look into young Barndt's scowling face. He had been greatly bored, as he had predicted, and this was the last straw in his load of misery.

"I thought you had too much sense to be superstitious."

"Perhaps," answered Mabel, with an odd laugh. And then she was gone. While the merry party awaited her return Mabel walked slowly through the moonlit garden to the spring. She was thinking of them both—Jimmy Crawford, who, though the life of the party, had seemed somehow to be watching her all the evening, and Barndt, with his polished manners and his sulky eyes. Then she bent over the spring and smiled. She had felt it all along—that his face would look over her shoulder and their reflections would be side by side.

* * * * * * * *

"It was dreadfully silly, Jimmy," she said softly as they walked slowly back to the house. "And you mustn't think that it is just because I trusted my decision to a foolish superstition. But it's because the little things make up our lives—at least they make a woman happy. Some men"—she delicately refrained from mentioning Barndt—"would have stayed in the house and let me look into the empty pool. And I want some one who understands me, who thinks of the little things for me. I've been thinking for other people so long"—

Jimmy held her trembling hand tight in his big, strong one.

"I think I understand, dear."

"I know you do," she whispered softly. "I've known it for ever so long, only I couldn't quite"—

And again he put his seal on the uncertain words. But all North Glascow thinks to this day that it was just because of the Hallowe'en superstition that Mabel accepted Jimmy and fought the good fight against her father's pride and disappointment.

An office will be opened in Towanda on Thursday, Sept. 1, by the Postal Telegraph company in the store of A. M. Baker at the corner of Main and Pine streets. The work of wiring the office and stringing the wires is now being done, the line entering the borough from the line of the Susquehanna & New York railroad and using the Bell telephone poles from the Towanda Junction depot to Bridge street.

A. M. Baker will be the agent of the company in Towanda and will handle the business in conjunction with the Adams express business. A competent operator will be put in charge, but a definite selection has not yet been made. The office will be a money transfer office, and a messenger service will be operated in connection with it.

The location of a telegraph office near the business center of the town will prove a great convenience to business men and others. Some three years ago, when the Postal abandoned Towanda, the office was located in the Mercur block and did a good business. Fred J. Gress, now of Sacramento, Cal., was the manager in charge.

IT COSTS SOMETHING.

But Little, if Any, More Than Is Spent Every Year.

There are some people in Towanda, a gratifying fact is that the number is small, who are "kicking" because the council spent so much money in cleaning up the streets before the firemen's convention. These people are respectfully reminded that the work was only pushed forward more rapidly than ordinary, and that the street committee says that no more money will be spent this year than last in cleaning streets.

And even if it did not cost a little more than ordinary, is not Towanda's excellent volunteer department entitled to a little thing like this once in eight years?

Lehigh's Water Plant.

The Lehigh Valley railroad company is having surveys made in Sayre preparatory to installing a water plant. For many years the company has used water both for the shops and for the watering of engines, supplied by the Sayre Water company. It is said by the Lehigh officers that they have been paying too high a price for the supply. The surveys being made are on a hill on the east side of the Susquehanna river from Sayre. The hill is also occupied by the reservoir of the Sayre Water company. The Lehigh, if the project is carried to consummation, will pump water from the Susquehanna River to a reservoir to be built on the hill, just north of the present reservoir.

DIZZINESS AND WEAK NERVES CURED.

Nothing Helped Until Dr. Kennedy's NEW Medicine, Cal-cura Solvent, Was Taken.

"I very much wish," writes Loretta J. Vail, of Hopewell Junction, N. Y., that I might be able in a few lines, without putting myself forward to let the people understand how valuable Cal-cura Solvent, the new medicine discovered by Dr. David Kennedy, is in cases of indigestion and the like ailments, which are so common among us. I suffered from a severe variety of liver complaint, with dizziness, numbness, and an exceedingly weak and excitable state of the nerves. I employed the best treatment within my reach, yet nothing really helped until I began to use Cal-cura Solvent, and that did." All druggists, $1.00.

Found 50,000 Old Pennies.

An old nail keg was recently unearthed in one of our western cities by workmen engaged in tearing down an old building. Upon opening it they became very much elated as it was full of pennies, but their joy was soon turned to disappointment for on closer examination they were found to be commercial pennies, used during the war, and of no value, whatever. The above has also been the experience of sickly men and women who were deceived into trying various remedies to restore them to health, but because they contained no merit were sadly disappointed. Not so, however, with those who selected Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to cure them of belching, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, or malaria, fever and ague, for today they enjoy perfect heath. A trial will convince you, too.

BACHE HOSE OF WELLSBORO DID GREAT WORK IN RACES.

Won Three Events and Tied in the Fourth Race.

The racing contests were late in starting but after things began to go they furnished lively interest for a big crowd that gathered along the sides of the course between Washington street and the Bailey block. The races were a great victory for Bache Hose company of Wellsboro, who won first place in the hose race, the hook and ladder race and the hub and hub race and tied in the hose coupling event.

The first race was the hose race. Bache made the fastest time in 29 2-5 seconds, with R. H. Sayre Hose second in 31 1-5 seconds, and Mist Hose of Blossburg, third in 36 3-5 seconds. First prize $60; second prize $40. Great coupling work was done by Powers of the Baches.

In the hook and ladder race Bache Hose was first in 33 1-5, with Relay Hook and Ladder company of Meshoppen in only two-fifths of a second slower in 33 3-5, and R. H. Sayre Hose third in 35 3-5. First prize $60; second prize $40.

In the hub and hub race Bache Hose won its heat from Mist Hose of Blossburg, in 23 3-5. Blossburg's time was 24 seconds. There was great rivalry between these teams and much money changed hands on the contest. In the heat between the R. H. Sayre team and the Relay of Meshoppen, Sayre won in 25 3-5 with Relays in 26 1-5. The Sayre team decided to take second money without trying a final heat. First prize $60; second prize $40.

The hose coupling contest resulted in two dead heats between Powers of the Bache Hose and Jack Ryan of the R. H. Sayre company. The first heat went in 5 3-5 and the second in 5 2-5 seconds, both men breaking the coupling and putting on the nozzle with lightning-like rapidity.

The judges were M. J. Sweeney of Owego, John M. Jones of Pittston and Percy L. Lang of Waverly. The timers were E. W. Elwell, F. D. Montanye and H. M. Turner of Towanda. B. F. Dunfee was athletic officer, and H. C. Thatcher of Waverly, starter.

Wellsboro Band Won Contest.

After Bache Hose company of Wellsboro won out in the races, in the evening that town's magnificently balanced military band carried off the laurels in the band contest. The only other band to enter was the R. A. Packer band of Sayre. The judges were Prof. W. H. Baker of Baker's band of Binghamton, Prof. Jacob Reig of Alexander's Ninth Regiment band of Wilkesbarre, and Prof. A. F. Hager of Hager's band of Elmira. They decided that the Wellsboro band had excelled, being especially strong in execution and tempo. Wellsboro was given five points and the Packer band five. The Wellsboro band played the overture Nabucadonson with the highest interpretation, their attack being excellent and the harmony and sympathy delicate and well shaded. Their other selection was the Italian Nights waltzes. The Packers played the ever popular Barber of Seville and were warmly applauded for their work in its rendition. Their second selection was the march "Idolizers."

FIVE COUNTY FIREMEN'S ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING.

Was Largely Attended and Decided on Coudersport for 1905.

The ninth annual convention of the Five County Volunteer Firemen's association was called to order in the grand jury room in the court house at 2:10 Thursday afternoon by President C. A. Innes of Canton. Rev. E. A. Gernant, rector of Christ's Episcopal church, offered prayer. Burgess Pratt welcomed the firemen and delegates to Towanda, extending them the freedom of the town and expressing the spontaneous welcome of every citizen of the borough.

P. E. Decker of Athens, acted as secretary in place of W. S. Hillis of that borough, who some time ago removed to Omaho.

Large Attendance of Delegates

The roll call of delegates showed 36 delegates present from fire companies and firemen's relief associations within the five counties. This was the largest meeting of delegates in the history of the association, and argued well for this year's meet being the banner event of its kind. There are in the counties of Bradford, Susquehanna, Wyoming, Tioga and Potter about 50 fire companies; of these 36 were members of the association last year and three more have joined. Three relief associations were members and three more have been added, making the total number of delegates entitled to seats 42.

The minutes of the meeting at Galeton were read and approved. The report of Treasurer Welles showed a balance on hand at the beginning of this year of $79.10. Various bills presented by the secretary were ordered paid. There were no reports of committees and the place of next meeting was taken up.

Coudersport Next Year.

M. J. MaMahon, Esq., of Galeton, in a happy manner presented the invitation and claims of Coudersport, the county seat of Potter county. He was ably seconded by F. A. Stebbins of Coudersport who told of good streets, ample accommodations and the will to give the firemen a good time. The choice of Coudersport was made unanimous.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers for 1905 resulted as follows:

President—W. B. Sullivan, Wellsboro.

Vice-Presidents—M. J. McMahon, Galeton; Charles Biebach, Sayre.

Secretary—P. E. Decker, Athens.

Treasurer—Chas. P. Welles, Towanda.

Mr. Sullivan was the first vice-president, and was advanced one number. For first vice-president Mr. McMahon and Mr. Biebach were both nominated. A ballot resulted 25 to 9 in favor of McMahon. Mr. Welles was reelected treasurer unanimously for the eighth year. He was the association's first president and active in the organization here nine years ago.

W. S. Hillis of Omaha until recently the secretary of the organization, was called upon and responded briefly. He praised Towanda and the local executive committee's management of the meet, and expresed his pleasure at meeting many old friends. A vote of thanks was extended to the people of Towanda and the committees.

Adjournment was taken at 3:30.

The Early Arrivals.

The first companies to arrive were the Mist hose and Aylesworth hose of Blossburg, their special train reaching Towanda between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday. The Howard Elmer hose of Sayre came in at 5:30 Thursday night. All day long there were scattering arrivals from all over the Five Counties territory, and many brought their ladies with them.

The first regular train was scheduled to arrive at 11:30 Thursday night. It brought the Alert and Bache hose companies of Wellsboro, and the Wellsboro Military band, the Crossfork company and band, Crary hose of Westfield, and the Alliance band of Corning, Gale hose and the Galeton band, the Citizens hose of Tioga, the Citizens Steamer and Hose company, the C. L. Patterson hose and the Jerome Park band of Elkland, the Coudersport fire department.

Germania Concert.

Leader Ed. Walker of the Germania band had a splendid organization of players. In the evening they played a choice program of concert music at an open air concert in front of the court house. An immense crowd enjoyed the music.

To the hard work of the local executive and other committees, covering several weeks, is due the success of the meeting. The local executive committee consists of three members from each of the five Towanda companies. Chief Engineer Humphrey and his assistants and every member of the Towanda department has taken a working interest in the matter.

Delegates' Banquet.

The banquet given at the Ward House in the evening to the delegates, at which the town council, Burgess Pratt, the executive committee and members of the press and clergy were invited, was a thoroughly enjoyable occasion. Covers were laid in the dining room for nearly 90 and the menu which was served by Landlord Carter was excellent. It was as follows:

Boullion, en Tasses
Brown Bread
Soft Shell Crabs, Sauce Tartar
Celery
Fried Spring Chicken
Mashed Potatoes French Peas
Hot Rolls Pickles
Champagne
Tomato Salade
Olives Wafers
Peach Ice Cream
Fancy Cakes
Coffee Cigars
Bonbons

C. P. Welles of Towanda, past president of the association, actec as toast master and introduced the speakers in a very interesting and complimentary manner.

He told of the success of the association since its first convention in Towanda nine years ago, and said the association was still growing in strength and effectiveness. George W. Williams of Wellsboro, was introduced and made a very well receivec speech on the convention's meeting places and the cordial welcome which had always been extended the firemen. He advocated the erection of a monument to the firemen in the territory embraced by the association.

Chief Engineer Dudley Humphrey of the Towanda Fire department gave the address of welcome and spoke of the great interest shown by the citizens of Towanda in the success of this year's convention. He also praised the excellent work of M. J. McMahon, general passenger agent of the Buffalo & Susquehanna for getting out such a large representation from the western end of the district.

Dr. D. L. Pratt, burgess of Towanda, spoke in behalf of council and made a great hit with a series of poetical toasts in which the ball game of the afternoon figured very patly. M. J. McNulty responded briefly on behalf of the county commissioners. Mr. Tripp of the Binghamton Press responded for the newspapers in an entertaining manner. J. V. Geiger, one of the founders of the Towanda fire department, made the hit of the evening in an historical address upon the fire fighting apparatus, tracing the history of the engine back to 230 before Christ. Letters and telegrams were read from H. H. Gardner of the Buffalo & Susquehanna road, general Manager Townsend of the Williamsport & North Branch, and H. H. Jager of the Erie.

W. C. Buck of Waverly, formerly of Towanda, gave a highly entertaining account of the time when he was a member of Lin-ta hose company and spent several days in putting out a fire that was located at various points in this section. W. B. Sullivan, the newly elected president of the association, whose home is at Wellsboro, responded briefly, and then some exceedingly well received remarks were given by Rev. E. A. Gernant of Towanda, who volunteered his services as chaplain of the Five County association. Attorney F. A. Stebbins gave a cordial welcome to his home town of Coudersport, where next year's convention is to be held. The banquet was a great success.

CONVENTION'S AFTERMATH.

Big Business Was Done in Towanda and Crowd Was Orderly.

Friday night's hard rain could not spoil the great success of the firemen's convention but it made Towanda look washed out on Saturday morning when the gay bunting hung lank with wet and debris of the day before was mixed in mud. Reports from hotels and lunch rooms, together with other business places that would naturally sell to a convention crowd indicate that the thousands of visitors left a big bunch of money in Towanda besides getting it back in the good time furnished them by the sight of the splendid parade and the many other attractions.

The police made some eight arrests which was remarkably light for the size of the crowd. Four were arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Thomas O'Herron of Sayre and William Wholey of Ithaca, who were arrested for running shell games, were given 10 days in jail by Burgess Pratt on the charge of disorderly conduct.

A man by the name of O'Keefe, who was suspected of being implicated in the theft of a watch at Waverly, was also arrested and placed in the lockup, but two were dischargd on Saturday evening.

Estimating the Crowd.

The local executive committee of the firemen's convention are entitled to great credit for their untiring work to make the convention the big success that it was. The committee arranged good attractions and they let the public know what they were going to have. The result was that there was a great crowd and that it was a well satisfied one.

Various estimates place the crowd on the streets at from 15,000 to 20,000 persons. A little figuring is interesting. There was a total of 49 special cars that come into Towanda during Thursday and Friday. They were packed to the fullest capacity and carried just about 5,000 persons. The population of Towanda is nearly 5,000. The Susquehanna & New York had no excursion and brought in over 400 people on Friday. A conservative estimate places the number coming on the regular Lehigh Valley trains to the upper station at 1,000. The regular trains coming to East Towanda and Washington street were packed and at least another 1,000 came by this way.

Over 1,400 came across the river bridge in carriages in two hours, and foot passengers can only be guessed at. Seven hundred and four persons came in carriages up Main street from the Barclay street and Towanda-Monroeton way. Over 500 persons came in carriages down York avenue and there were nearly 650 persons who walked down that way. Another 1,000 came by the way of Bridge street and Plank road street in carriages. A total of these figures, which are very conservative, amounts to 16,654 and the number of persons who live within walking distance of Towanda but who are not included in the 5000 population will easily bring the total up to in the neighborhood of 18,000 persons.

Convention Notes.

The convention weather was all that could be desired.

Two shell game sharps were picked up by the police Friday.

John G. Culver of Laporte, years ago an active Naiad, was in Towanda to witness the firemen's parade.

Liquid refreshments were furnished the firemen by O. L. Smiley and C. R. Stiles on the line of march and the firemen appreciated the courtesy very much.

Over one thousand tickets for Towanda were sold at the Sayre station Friday, and about 700 people came down from Athens to the firemen's parade.

Visitors spoke in the highest terms of the way in which Towanda prepared for the firemen's convention, and the decorations were especially mentioned by everyone.

Franklin Steamer company, No. 1, of Towanda, used for the first time a beautiful new banner. It is of blue silk, lettered and ornamented in gold, and is the work of John Taylor. The standard is the work of J. G. Vogt and it was put together by MissCarrie Pennell.

Grand Jurors.

These citizens compose the grand jury, in session this week:

Angevine E. Avery, Monroeton; Newell P. Corbin, Orwell; S. M. Canedy, Sylvania; Jackson Chaffee, Sheshequin; George Childs, Sheshequin; Clyde Doan, Windham; Harry Dodge, Burlington; Joseph E. Foyle, Barclay; P. C. Forbes, Rome; Thomas Howley, Towanda; William Lynch, Burlington; J. C. Lane, North Towanda; Thomas Mott, LeRoy; Thomas Maloney, Ulster; W. D. McKean, West Burlington; Charles E. Prince, Windham; V. E. Pennell, Towanda; Charles D. Passage, Towanda; John W. Swingle, Towanda; John H. Stevens, Wyalusing; Charles Stroud, Towanda; G. D. Stephens, South Waverly; John F. Struble, Litchfield; Asa Wilcox, Wells.

Good Butter Record.

A thoroughbred Holstein owned by S. F. Williams of LeRoy, has a remarkable milk and butter record. During the months of May, June and July she averaged 60 pounds of milk a day. The largest yield was 73 pounds in one day, and the largest mess at one milking was 38½ pounds. According to the creamery test she made 25 pounds of butter in seven days. This is the best record of any four year old cow in the world, and was made with ordinary rations.—Canton Sentinel.

SNAKE BIT RUBBER TIRE.

Poisoned by Venom It Swelled to Great Size and Burst.

This is from the Wellsboro Advocate: Having heard the report, we take pleasure in telling this snake story of John Carson, who so far as known is not subject to flights of imagination. Mr. Carson, who is a traveling man, left here on the noon train on August 2, and went to Antrim where he took the stage to Morris and later hired a rig to take him to Blackwells. On the road a large rattlesnake sprung at him, but struck the wheel of the carriage, burying its fang in the rubber tires.

The wheel revolved and striking a stone crushed the snake's head. It uncoiled from the spokes and dropped dead beside the road. Carson continued his journey and on driving in the floor at Blackwells, he discovered that the tire had swollen to twice its normal size, and that for a space of about six inches it had changed from a slight slate color to a dark green. The next moment, unable to stand the terrible strain any longer it suddenly exploded with a loud report.

LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Team Attached to Hack Makes a Lively Dash on Sidewalk.

Towanda had a lively, and what looked at first to be a serious runaway on Friday afternoon shortly after one o'clock when a team attached to one of Kirwin's hacks became unmanageable on North Main street, and dashed down the thoroughfare while it was crowded with people who had been witnessing the parade. The carriage struck the arch erected across the street opposite Bonney's market, throwing the driver off, and the team swerved on to the sidewalk in front of the postoffice.

People on the walk sought places of safety, and the animals were brought to a stop at the entrance to Mercur hall, without being injured, and the hack was but little damaged. The driver, Tom McKenna, was taken to Dr. Means's office, where it was found that one rib had been broken and his knee cut.

OFF FOR THE COAST.

Towanda Party Left in Pullman Car "Gladstone" Monday.

The members of Northern Commandery No. 16 of this place who are taking a fine 35 days trip to the Pacific coast to participate in the triennial conclave of the Knights Templar left Towanda Monday afternoon in the fine Pullman car "Gladstone." Their wives and in some cases their entire families went with the Knights. The Pullman car was placed at the foot of Park street and later taken to the upper station where it was attached to train No. 1.

The party left Towanda on a day that promised to roast them at the start but the rain soon cooled things off and made travel more pleasant for them.

DEATH OF AGED WOMAN.

Martha McCloe of Towanda Was Eighty-eight Years Old.

Martha McCloe died at her home on North Fourt street Aug. 17. The deceased was a colored woman and had reached the advanced age of 88 years. She was born in Bucks county but had lived in Towanda for a number of years. She was for a long time a cook at the Ward House.

Funeral services were held at the house Thursday afternon at 2 o'clock.

Italian Drowned.

By the falling of a runway over which three Italians were hauling dirt at Waverly, all went into the river 40 feet beneath and one drowned. There were 100 Italians working near where the accident happened and they all quit work. They claim that the runway was unsafe and are very bitter over the loss of their companion.

Small Fire, Much Smoke.

An alarm of fire at 5:10 Thursafternoon gave the department a run to South Main street below Franklin, where a small shed and a wood pile in the rear of Vargason's store were in a blaze. There was no damage to speak of. The lack of knowledge as to the location of the fire led the firemen to Mix avenue before they got headed right.

Veteran Cavalry Reunion.

The third annual reunion of Company D, First New York Veteran Cavalry, will be held in the Campbell house at Athens, on Friday, Sept. 2. All comrades are cordially invited to attend and to come early.

Thirty-two Prisoners.

There are now thirty-two prisoners in the county jail, an unusually large number. Hiram Adelbert Hart and John Munson were the last two to enter the bastile.

Letter to J. W. Shiner.

Towanda, Pa.

Dear Sir: The Fair Ground buildings, Cobleskill, N. Y., were painted Devoe last year.

Two other paint agents said the job would take 150 gallons (their price was 15 cents less a gallon.)

Our agent said not over 125.

It took 115. We saved 'em at least $140 on paint and labor.

The American House, Tannersville, N. Y., was painted two coats last year; not Devoe.

Mr. Charles Haner, across the street put on one coat Devoe.

Mr. Wiltse (American House) is sorry he didn't paint Devoe. Haners one coat was better than Wiltse's two.

Depends on the paint.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.
